

CHAPTER 18

Something or other

Over the last three Xmas', we'd always given something away on line. Usually in the form of our latest album. In 2008, at the end of the year when we had the problems with band members leaving, we gave away our "Clinker" album, which we were initially selling at gigs (gigs that came to a grinding halt by March that year). In 2007, it was "When I Grow Up I Wanna Be a Space Cadet", which we planned to sell, but after trying to rehearse it earlier in the year realised...it was just too complicated for what was then a guitar, bass, keyboards and drums set up.

So Xmas 2009, in the middle of getting the "Open See" gig at the Photographers Gallery ready we gave away "Thru' the REMIX Machine". As you've read before we remixed the whole of the "Fly Machine" album, well all bar one song (Jump in the Fire) under our various different aliases...some of which haven't even been mentioned in this "history". I think the album works well as an entity of its own. Well we were happy with it anyway and made it available as a FREE download from December 19th 2009.
